YOUNG SOUTHEAST ASIAN LEADERS INITIATIVE

145,000+

More than 145,000 young leaders are YSEALI Network members.

2,490

2,490 young leaders and mentors have participated in educational and professional exchanges in the United States or in reciprocal exchanges in Southeast Asia.

3,233

3,233 youth have attended regional workshops in Southeast Asia to develop program-focused skills.

$1,745,000

YSEALI has dedicated more than $1.7 million in funding for community projects.

What is YSEALI?

The Young Southeast Asian Leaders Initiative (YSEALI) is the U.S. government's signature program to strengthen leadership development and networking in Southeast Asia. Through a variety of programs and engagements, YSEALI seeks to build the leadership capabilities of youth in the region, strengthen ties between the United States and Southeast Asia, and nurture a community of leaders who work across borders to solve shared issues.

YSEALI is open to young people ages 18-35 from all Association of Southeast Asian Nations (ASEAN) member countries (Brunei, Cambodia, Indonesia, Laos, Malaysia, Myanmar, the Philippines, Singapore, Thailand, and Vietnam) and Timor-Leste. Responding to priorities from youth in Southeast Asia, YSEALI programs focus on four themes:

- Economic growth
- Sustainable development
- Education
- Civic engagement

YSEALI opportunities include professional and academic exchanges to the United States, regional workshops for networking and skills development, social media engagement, and a grant competition to support emerging leaders' efforts to address regional issues.

Why is YSEALI Important?

According to the ASEAN Secretariat, 65 percent of the population in the ASEAN region is under the age of 35. These 400 million youth will help define the Indo-Pacific region for decades to come, so their full participation in solving global challenges is critical to the development and prosperity of the region.

YSEALI Programs

YSEALI Academic Fellows Program

The YSEALI Academic Fellows Program brings undergraduates or recently graduated students ages 18-25 to the United States for a five-week institute held on the campus of a U.S. college or university. The program includes an on-campus academic residency, leadership development, interaction with U.S. peers, an educational study tour, and community service activities. Programs conclude with a visit to Washington, D.C. to meet U.S. leaders, policymakers, and think tank experts.

YSEALI Professional Fellows Program

The YSEALI Professional Fellows Program gives participants ages 25-35 the opportunity to spend five weeks in the United States, including four weeks working directly with U.S. counterparts. These individually tailored work placements are with non-profit organizations, state and local government, or private sector offices across the country. During these placements, Fellows build their practical expertise, leadership skills, and professional networks. Fellows' areas of work include environmental protection, transparency in governance, social entrepreneurship, non-profit management, disability rights, wildlife protection, and empowerment of women and girls. U.S. hosts also travel to Southeast Asia on reciprocal exchanges under this program.

YSEALI Regional Workshops

YSEALI Regional Workshops bring together Southeast Asian youth to develop practical skills, learn about regional problems, and collaborate on finding solutions. Workshops take place in Southeast Asia and topics include, entrepreneurship, workforce development, education, and women's leadership.

Seeds for the Future

The YSEALI Seeds for the Future grants support young Southeast Asian leaders' most promising and innovative ideas for civic engagement, economic development and entrepreneurship, education, and sustainable development. This grant competition helps teams of entrepreneurial youth launch endeavors to solve regional challenges. Since the program began in 2013, over $1.7 million has been dedicated to community projects.

YSEALI Network & Virtual Engagement

Since the launch of YSEALI in December 2013, more than 145,000 young people from Southeast Asia have become members of the virtual YSEALI Network. YSEALI connects leaders from across the region and offers an array of resources, online networking opportunities, and professional trainings. Our digital platforms encourage young people to collaborate on issues of shared concern, providing them with an avenue to further their own development through courses on leadership, entrepreneurship, and other professional skills. The YSEALI website, Facebook, Twitter, Instagram, and Tumblr accounts regularly update network members about upcoming events, courses, resources, and opportunities.

YSEALI YOUnified

YOUnified ("youth" and "unified") is an annual community service campaign held around December 3rd to commemorate YSEALI's anniversary and to celebrate the strength and potential of #YSEALI members. YOUnified demonstrates YSEALI member's ingenuity in creating solutions to shared community and regional challenges. Since 2016, nearly 60,000 young people have been involved in for YOUnified community service projects across Southeast Asia.
